JUDGE ED C. O'REAR

States That He is Not A Candidate For Governor.

Judge Edward C. O'Rear is not a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. He said this to the News when asked just what is his attitude toward the constant talk that is being heard that he will be a full fledged candidate for Governor next year.

"Of course, I am sensible to the honor that many of my friends are doing me in suggesting my name for the party's nomination for Governor, but really this is all done without my desire and against every inclination that I have. The field of political activity or ambition has no charm for me. I much prefer to go along in my present course, without regard to politics or policies. A Judge should have no politics and no question from the outside should be brought into the everyday life of his duties. He should cut neither to the right or left, but straight to the line in his work, regardless of outside considerations and it is this that I am trying to do. I see my duty; I love my work on the bench, and am trying to make my services of value to the Commonwealth, in this way, which I consider sufficient for any man."

"But you must know," he was reminded by the reporter, "that your friends in your party are saying that you will be their standard bearer and that you will get into the race for the nomination at the right time."

"Yes, of course, I hear these things, but as I said I pass them by with as little consideration as it is possible to give them. From now until the next State election, 18 months away, is a long race for a short horse to run. There are lots of things that may happen between now and then. I am not a candidate for Governor, and am giving the matter no thought. I, of course, appreciate the interest my friends feel in the matter on my behalf, but zealous friends will sometimes do a great deal without consulting one's desires."—Frankfort Weekly News, January 8.

YOUR WIFE

Needs a Vacation And You Should Give Her One.

Give your wife a vacation. She needs one. Little cares are harder to bear than greater responsibilities, and she has many more cares than her husband and sometimes as great responsibilities.

When your work is done you can lock it up in your office and put the key in your pocket. But she never locks her work up till sleep comes and turns the key upon it. A woman's work is never done. And modern life has increased and intensified it. Cares have multiplied faster than conveniences. Life is more complex, its demands are greater and more numerous, society more exacting. Who needs a vacation if she does not. And she can not get it at home. The more quiet and restful the home is to the more evidence that it is a care if not a burden to her. A housekeeper can no more take a vacation in her home than can a merchant in his counting house. Even though her absence occasions inconvenience, give her an occasional vacation. —Exchange

$25,000 For Mansion.

Harry Payne Whitney purchased the former Whitney mansion on Fifth avenue, New York, City, for $25,000. The house was built by his father, and was sold after Mr. Whitney's death. He thus regains all the magnificent furnishings and art treasures which were accumulated by his father.

Cook and Peary were much talked about recently, but now it's Newmeyer's Great Mill Remnant Sale.

For The Boys.

The worst habit that boys can fall into is that of loafing around on the streets at night. All the good and noble lessons taught them by their mothers are there counteracted and nullified. They learn nothing that is good—but everything bad. The boys who spend their evenings in the sacred precincts of home with good books for their companions are the future hope of this republic; they will fill our legislative and congressional halls, and sit in judgment upon men and measures, while the boys who run the streets will fill our penitentiaries, almshouses and lunatic asylums.

For caps, hats, ladies and gents furnishing goods go to the Mill Remnant Sale at Newmeyer's.

LEXINGTON GAZETTE,

A Democratic Newspaper Closes Publication.

The Kentucky Evening Gazette printed at Lexington, ceased publication with its edition of Wednesday afternoon, January 12.

The Gazette was started January 21, 1907, with Charles I. Stewart editor. Later he resigned and during the last political campaign Col. W. P. Walton was engaged as its editor, he holding the position until the paper's failure.

The Gazette in its last edition said:

"It is with deep and sincere regret that circumstances over which I have no control force the announcement of the suspension of The Gazette by order of the board of directors."

"Against my better judgment and resolve not to enter the newspaper business again, I yielded to the importunities of political friends four or five months ago and took charge of The Gazette, which I knew was a financial failure, with the hope of helping to elect the Democratic ticket and of putting the paper on a paying basis. Fate decreed that I should fail in both attempts."

"The owners and financial backers of the paper do not feel that it is necessary for them to lose more money in an undertaking that it seems cannot be a success."

"I very much doubt that a third paper can be made a success in Lexington. The people seem to think that the two old, established ones are sufficient for the needs of the city and give but scant support to a third."

Sulphate of iron will be tried extensively this year by the Central Kentucky farmers to exterminate white top says the Lexington Herald. Garman, of the Experiment Station, will give all the information desired.

Looking To Cheaper Living.

The increased cost of living was the subject of a concurrent resolution offered in the House by Representative Hull, of Tenn. It provides for a joint committee of seven members of the House and five members of the Senate to investigate conditions and report upon them and as to what remedies may be effected through legislation.

During the past twelve months there has been an advance in the price of commodities of from 11 to 30 per cent, and during the past thirteen years of more than 50 per cent.

QUAIL SEIZED

By Game Warden and Warrants Are Served.

For the alleged violation of the game law regarding the selling of quail warrants were sworn out in Cincinnati Jan. 11, against E. N. Roth, manager of the St. Nicholas Hotel, and John B. Williams, proprietor of a Sixth street restaurant.

C. C. Acton, Game Warden for Southern Ohio, has been robbing the reported selling of quail in restaurants and the keeping of it in cold storage. On December 27 Acton accompanied by a party of eight, went to Williams' restaurant and ordered supper. When they asked if they could get any quail the waiter said they should ask for Japanese turkey. Three such fowls were served, and instead of eating them the birds were placed in the pockets of the party, and Acton claims they were genuine "Bob White." A more important find was made at the Sinton Hotel. Engaging a private room and ordering a dinner under the name of the Sunshine Lodge, Acton says that he and two Assistant Game Wardens, and five others were served with "quail" for all. Instead of eating the toothsome viands they were pocketed while the waiters were out. Search warrants were secured, and at the Merchants' Cold Storage and Ice Company were found 924 quail, which the manager of the concern said were being held under the name of squabs for the Sinton Hotel.

Roth and Williams were served with warrants by Acton. The open season for quail in Ohio is from November 15 to December 4, and they can not be sold or exposed for sale at any time.

The fine for each separate bird held or sold is from $25 to $200.

H. C. Greenwade, 25 Queen St., Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "I attribute my kidney trouble to the constant strain required in my work as a blacksmith. While I was never in such a condition that I was not able to work nevertheless I was in misery. I frequently had severe attacks of lumbago which sometimes lasted for days and weeks and made my life and work a burden instead of a pleasure. I am pleased to say that Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at F. C. Duernson's drug store, gave me prompt relief from the last attack and since using them I have had no recurrence. I am pleased to recommend this remedy to other sufferers from kidney complaint."

THOU SHALT NOT STEAL.

The Supreme Court of the United States has denied a new trial to Jno. R. Walsh, the Chicago banker, who misappropriated funds of Chicago National Bank. He is under sentence of five years in Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas. "Thou shalt not steal."

The first bill introduced in the Senate was by Senator Vice, of Bath, and champions the extension of the County Unit law to all counties alike. The first show of strength for the bill was made on Monday when its friends were able to prevent its commitment by president pro tem Conn Linn, to a committee opposed to its passage.

Report from Frankfort is that the bill will surely pass the House and that its friends in the Senate are jubilant. The report also says that the Committee on Religion and Morals is filled with enemies of the County Unit Bill. We hope not.

To Succeed Lorton.

MR. DAVID HOWELL

Has Been Appointed Assistant to President of Dutton Bank.

We dropped in for a pleasant little fifteen minutes with Mr. David Howell, the Dutton Bank's new confidential man, a gentleman in whom is to be vested those powers second only to those exercised by the president of the institution on all matters directly affecting the conduct of the bank's enormously growing business with our people.

Mr. Howell is a man of that splendid type whose perseverance, industry and acumen stamp him as a representative American. A farmer's boy, reared in that atmosphere of nature where all tends to the solidity of future manhood, he began life as a clerk in a banking institution near his home, and for nineteen years successively rose through the various official positions, till on leaving, he stood in the enviable incumbency of cashier and general manager of the Mt. Sterling, Kentucky.

In his new assignment with the Dutton Bank he will occupy the unique position of assistant to the president—without prejudice to any of the very excellent officers of that institution. W. R. Thomas, the president, in this departure is simply following the precedent of other large counting houses in the North in dividing the growing duties of an executive with a capable assistant, who, from his long association with all classes of business men, is bound to advance the best interests of so conservative a concern as the Dutton Bank of Gainesville.

We extend the welcome of good fellowship to Mr. Howell.—Daily Sun, Gainesville, Fla.

A Record Price.

A record price for Clark county tobacco was made Tuesday, Jan. 11, when W. R. Sphar sold his 1909 crop to A. R. Robertson, of Mt. Sterling, for $18 per hundred all around. About 45,000 pounds in the crop, and was raised by Z. C. Moore on Mr. Sphar's place on the Mt. Sterling pike. Mr. Robertson stated that this was the highest price that he had paid for any crop, although having purchased over 3,500,000 pounds of the 1909 crop, and gives as a reason for the high price that it was the best tobacco and best handled crop he has yet seen; he also compliments Mr. Moore very highly for the fine condition and expert manner in which it was handled.—Winchester Democrat.

FORMAL OPENING

Of New Depot By Elite Of The City.

A pleasing event was the formal opening of the new C. & O. depot in our city on Wednesday evening of last week—January 15, 1910. The long needed and wished for has been accomplished and the people showed their appreciation right royally. Scores if not hundreds of ladies and gentlemen attended the reception in the new structure. The rooms were illuminated and decorated with cut flowers, ferns, etc. The committee of arrangements consisted of Messrs. James H. R. French, W. S. Lloyd and J. O. Greene, with other members of the Woman's Club as entertainers. Judge Hazelrigg, Geo. Eassin and Bob White gave valuable assistance.

For palate feasting there was an abundance of sandwiches, olives and coffee, and the punch bowl dispensed its inspiration, presided over by Miss Harriett Apperson. Mesdames Pierce Winn and H. G. Hoffman; some of the gentlemen braved the inclement weather without their hats. After the palate and eye feasting, W. R. Thompson, President of the Business Men's Club, was Master of Ceremonies and introduced the speakers. Mr. L. T. Chiles told about Mr. Sterling and its future in his characteristic and pleasing manner.

Mr. Garrett Wall, who is the real estate agent for the C. & O. railway, responded to the toast, "The C. & O. Railroad."

Rev. H. D. Clark, always ready with words worth hearing, was especially pleasing, as he extolled "Woman's Part in Civic Improvement" by her ministry in advancing whatever is true, beautiful and good.

W. R. Thompson closed the speaking with a review of what can be and has been done.

Among the out-of-town visitors we noticed Mr. Garrett Wall, Sr., of Mayville, his son Garrett above referred to and Mr. John Fox, C. & O. superintendent of this division.

Two beautiful girls, Misses Garnett Robinson and Enla Perry, pinned on the guests beautiful carnations. The interest manifested in this public improvement dedication was really greater than might have been expected, and was no doubt highly appreciated by the officials of the road. The relation between a community and a great corporation like the C. & O., should be such as to inspire helpfulness, good will and mutual striving for improvement and efficient service. "Twas good to be there."

See in this issue the ad of F. H. Jackson, of Winchester. His wife, a daughter of Allen Prewitt, of our county, has many relatives and friends here.

ASTOR'S INVENTION OF VALUE

New York Millionaire Has Added Another to His Long List of Achievements.

Col. John Jacob Astor has invented many ingenious devices, the latest of which is thus described by the Scientific American:

"Many people in crossing the ocean have experienced inconvenience by reason of the fact that the chairs in the saloon and cardrooms are rigidly screwed to the floor. The chairs are secured at such a distance from the tables that they will accommodate persons of very ample proportions and therefore when a comparatively thin person occupies a chair he finds it necessary to sit merely on the edge, for should he endeavor to lean back in the chair he finds himself too far from the table."

"While recently returning from Europe Col. John Jacob Astor conceived of a very simple and practical scheme whereby the chairs may be firmly held in place at any desired distance from the tables or may be easily released and moved about. Col. Astor's scheme involves the use of a vacuum cup beneath the chair and so mounted that it may be pressed into engagement with the deck of the ship. When the chair by suction, or the vacuum may be broken, the cup lifted and the chair released."

"If the chair is on a deck or hard wood floor or on rubber tiling the vacuum will hold indefinitely, while it used on a carpet it will probably be necessary to depress the cup and raise it again occasionally to form a new vacuum. Col. Astor intends to present this invention to the public, as has been his custom with all his recent inventions."

EXAMPLE OF LAW'S DELAY

Case That Went Its Way Through New York Courts for Twenty Weary Years.

A grimly humorous illustration of one of the results to the litigant may be found in a New York law suit which reached a final chapter recently in the court of appeals, says the Lancet. It was a complex case against an insurance company on some policy of insurance, and each time it was tried it took from a week to two weeks attention of court and jury. Owing to reversals and new trials ordered by appellate courts, it had to be tried nine times. It was in the courts from 1832 to 1902. The plaintiff became at last so sick and disheartened with his interminable lawsuit that he abandoned it, refused to go to his lawyers to consult with them about it or to appear when the case was being tried. The lawyers had themselves spent over $4,500 on fighting the case, and had worked on it for nearly twenty years. Their client having abandoned them, they settled the case for $30,000, and took the money themselves for their fee. The last chapter of the litigation was an unsuccessful attempt by the receiver in insolvency of the plaintiff to make the lawyers give up some of their fee to their clients' creditors. How much the twenty years' delay in the law suit had to with that insolvency it is impossible to say; but such an outcome, to the lay mind, seems hardly satisfactory as a result of twenty years of litigation, of nine trials, and seventy-two days' time of over a hundred jurors.

The Football Spirit.

Ambassador David J. Hill, crossing from Germany on the George Washington, and in the smoke-room of the steamer that he would be glad to spend his Thanksgiving at home. Then, apropos of Thanksgiving day, Dr. Hill told a story on the subject of football.

"At a Thanksgiving day game at Bucknell," he said, "you know I'm a Bucknell man—a beautiful girl in saffron and black velvet uttered a low cry of horror."

"My brother! My poor brother! she moaned, as a halfback was carried unconscious from the field."

"Ah, but how thankful we should be! her escort, an old player, cried gaily."

"Thankful! Thankful for what?" exclaimed the girl.

"Thankful that it wasn't the full back," said he. "We haven't a decent fullback sub, you know."

Girl's Odd Way of Making Money.

Raising Japanese spaniels in the way one Connecticut farmers' daughter has solved the problem of earning money while remaining at home and helping with the housework. She cleared $300 the first year and almost double that amount the second and she looks forward to doing still better in 1910.

She learned that the best way to get the dogs was to buy them from sailors, who picked them up in Japan and brought them to America for the sake of making money.

The highest price she has received so far has been $100 for pups about six weeks old. The most successful exhibitor could demand. The lowest price was $21 for a female of striking excellence, though she was unmistakably pure bred.

Women Composers.

Lovers of "In a Persian Garden" and other song cycles will have an opportunity to welcome their composer, Liza Lehmann, whose presence will once more raise the question: "Can women compose?" They are trying hard enough, beyond all doubt; indeed, the publishers say there are now more women who compose than men.—It. Plunk in the Independent.

SIGHS F. GO'D OLD DAYS

Will Carleton's Fond Recollections of Mother's Good-Night Ministrations.

Will Carleton, poet, author of "Farm Ballads," "City Ballads" and other ballads, and poems too numerous to mention, was toastmaster at the recent dinner given by the Canadian Club in the Hotel Astor. His poetic fancy could be detected and he was in the midst of a comparison of the deep woods and solitude with the gay lights of Broadway before his auditors knew it, and the advantage, according to Mr. Carleton, lay entirely with the wilderness.

"It is a struggle toward the infinite," he declared, "but, unlike nature, will never burn its bridge. Nature will struggle on and on fearlessly, confident of itself. Yes, nature has the call, and man is ever crying 'Back to nature.'"

"I recall the story of a man who wished himself a few again boys of the New England farm. 'I wish,' said he, 'that I could go back 40 years and as a boy, go to my dear old mother and have her put me to bed, after making me kneel down and say, 'Now I lay me, and then tuck me in. And it would not be the real thing unless she gave me the silver cuff on the side of the head with the admonition 'Now, Jimmy, don't let me hear any thing from you till morning!' Oh, those were the good, old days.'"

STRANGE PAINTINGS IN CAVE

No One Yet Has Been Able to Decipher Their Meaning. Just Be Centuries Old.

The old Indian cave recently discovered about two miles from Cliffs Wash, has been visited by many persons during the last few weeks. There are a large number of Indian paintings on the interior walls of the cave, but so far no one seeing them has been able to decipher any meaning.

The cave has a sand floor, which seems very strange, as it is one of the highest cliffs, which is practically all rock in the surroundings. The sand must have been carried there where it forms a level floor.

Some of the visitors have dug into the sand, hoping to find some hidden treasure, but so far nothing has been reported, although holes more than three feet deep have been dug into the sand.

The cave is large enough to make shelter for 250 to 300 persons standing, and no doubt was a valuable asset to the Indian tribe that made it. It was now deserted. It was of a natural cavity made by the dilute grade lava rock, while a good portion of it must have been worked out in a cave by human hands 1,000 or more years ago.

There is still another wonder that produces thought for study as to its probable use, and that is a window carved through the cliff rocks about 1 rods from the cave. This window is about a foot wide by three feet in height.

The Mice of the Fat.

Marblehead is a place of special interest to English people, for, for Edward the first, king of England, where for so many years he lived in summer care, and every August received a visit from his queen, Isabella, and prepared to follow on the somewhat severe regime of the place.

Since twenty years ago this famous watering place was scarcely known to foreign people, although it is nearly a century since it was visited by a great man as Goshawk. The spring are owned by the Abbey of Tepl. A large monastery some miles away and the good brothers evidently did not understand the art of advertising, for the place remained practically unknown until German speaking countries until recent times.

It was then begun to find how useful its waters were to the man who loved his dinner and to the lady whose figure had lost its lines, and nowadays it has become the Mecca of the fat—Wide World Magazine.

Watch Recovered from River.

John Norris, a former chief constable of Coventry, was the possessor of a historical Tay Bridge watch, say the London Standard. This was engraved with a view of the Tay Bridge and was inscribed as follows: "The Tay Bridge Disaster, December 1879. This watch lay in the River Tay for six weeks. It stopped at the time of the accident, remained silent many days, started again and worked nine hours under a cold keyless lever which had been lent to Mr. Bevan, an art let of Cheltenham, who was drowned in a charge of dynamite was recovered and used with a view to raising the body from the river, and this doubtless started the watch again."

A Popular Floor.

Whenever the colored man who runs the elevator in a New York store looks particularly frisky, he announces the third floor in this fashion:

"Third floor—walets, dresses, alterations and con-plains, particularly con-plains."

Since a fair proportion of the passengers who get off at that floor are there for the purpose of registering complaints, it has been thought significantly for anticipating their needs.

How Girls Walk.
Between their short skirts and their smart pumps the feet of the average young woman are extremely conspicuous. Just now, and passing glances at them reveal the fact that most girls and women do not know how to walk properly. Ninety-nine out of a hundred of them place the heel on the ground first, a trick that is not only tiresome, but extremely ungraceful.

Weasels Attacked Cow.
Zuwanke on the farm of H. A. Bell, in Hanover, Pa., noticed a cow in a nearby meadow strangely jumping about and bellowing loudly. Upon investigation they were astonished to find that eight weasels had attacked her. After a hard fight the farmers succeeded in killing several of the bloodsuckers and scattering the remainder.

MADE BLUNDER DOUBLY BAD

Young Man's Effort to Retrive Error Only Resulted in Getting Him in Deeper.

An amusing case was that of Sir Edward Thornton, once British ambassador to the United States, and Judge Polard of Vermont. At a wedding in Washington a young man went up to Judge Polard, greeted him and held out his hand.
"I fear," said the judge, "that you have the advantage of me."
"Is it possible," asked the young man, "that you don't remember seeing me with my father in Mexico?"
"I don't recollect ever being in Mexico."
"Why, surely you are Sir Edward Thornton?"
"By no means. I am Judge Polard of Vermont."
A week or so later the baffled young man caught sight of Judge Polard, as he thought, and determined to smooth over his recent blunder. "That was an awkward mistake of mine the other night," he said, "my taking you for Sir Edward Thornton."
"And, pray, for whom do you take me now?" was the query.
"Why, Judge Polard of Vermont, of course."
"My name is Thornton," thundered the ambassador, turning on his heel.—Sunday Magazine of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

BETWEEN LOVE AND DUTY

Hoboken Cook Tru to Father Though It Meant Losing Wife.

Police Commissioner Baker of New York, asked a policeman who had made a particularly daring and successful arrest, said:
"He got his man by working out his claw with taring logic. He didn't let any tangle stand in his way. He didn't out of false delicacy, hesitate like the Hoboken cook."
A Hoboken man whose hen roost had been robbed said to his cook:
"See here, Lily, sleeping as close to the henhouse as you do, didn't you hear those chickens thieves last night?"
"Lily hesitated. Then she whimpered."
"Yes, sir. I certainly did hear them chickens hollerin', and I heard men's voices."
"Why, in thunder, then, didn't you do something?"
"Lily burst into tears."
"Oh," she sobbed, "I knowed my old poppy was out there in that hen coop, and if I wouldn't have had him, I think I'd lost confidence in him for all the chickens in the world."

College for India's Girls.
The new dormitory for the Lucknow College for Girls is to be erected as a memorial to Lilavati Singh, who at the time of her death was president of the college. Miss Singh was the only native teacher in the Lucknow college. As a student early in her career she received a mission scholarship because she preferred to earn her own education, though at the time she was supporting several younger relatives. In 1920 she won an A. M. degree with honors at the University of Allahabad. Four years later she came to America with Miss Thompson, whose school in Lucknow she had entered when less than ten. Here she helped to raise upward of $20,000 for educational work among women of India. In 1927 she was sent to Japan as the Indian delegate at the Y. W. C. A. to the Students Christian federation conference in Tokyo. The new dormitory is erected by money contributed by her friends, the hula songing from America.

Sweet and Profitable.
Forbes Robertson, the English actor, motored on a beautiful October afternoon through the suburbs of New York.
Mr. Forbes Robertson's host lamented the advertisement which concealed the landscape. A majestic rock was covered with a red and white pill gramination. A pastoral valley was crowded with blue and green sign boards. Even the sparkling blue of the autumnal sky was sullied by boy balloons proclaiming the incomparable merits of a ten-cent tea.
"Sweet," said Mr. Forbes Robertson, embracing the scent with a wave of the hand—"sweet are the uses of advertisement."

Maidenly Modesty.
Ren Wolf has the following "Maidenly Note" in his entertaining column in the New York Morning Telegraph: Gertrude Hoffman of Salome fame stood huddled up in a doorway opposite the Times building yesterday afternoon.
"What are you doing here?" inquired a friend.
"Why," replied Miss Hoffman, "I want to cross the street, but I have wind how my skirts up to high that I became ashamed and ran in here to escape."

AUDITOR JAMES

Will Refuse to Issue Warrants Unless the Court Tells Him He Must.

Until the Court of Appeals has passed on the right of the Legislature to employ additional help in the House and Senate, Frank P. James, State Auditor, will not issue warrants for the salaries of employees other than those provided for by the Constitution. The fifteen officers created in the House and the eight or more in the Senate will be filled, but those who hold the places will have to sue for their salaries and the Auditor will refuse to pay them unless the courts tell him he must.
"I will not issue any warrants to any of them. If they want to serve and take the chances on getting their money, that is all right. I will not pay them, however, until I have a decision from the Court of Appeals. I do not believe that the two houses have the right to create all these additional places and I do not care to take the chance of being sued on my bond."

Japanese Cherry Trees Presented Mrs. Taft.

The Emperor of Japan's remembrance of President Taft's great enjoyment of the cherry blossom festival season when in Japan has taken the graceful form of the presentation to Mrs. Taft of three car loads of young cherry trees, and they are now in Washington.
The greatest care has been taken all the way from the land of the Mikado to keep the temperature an even stage that the trees may not be harmed. Mrs. Taft, in appreciation of the opportunity for a cherry blossom season at the National Capitol, has instructed delivery of the trees to the District Commissioners, and ones of them lining the Potomac boulevard will be a beautiful feature of that imposing thoroughfare.

That blizzard on Thursday set people talking; but what was that compared with the cyclone of prices every day at Newmeyer's Mill Remnant Sale now in progress.

Favors State Control Over Liquor Traffic

Defying the published report that he intends to force the prohibition issue on the Democratic party, W. J. Bryan said in his Gannett:
"Mr. Bryan does not expect to see prohibition a paramount issue in national politics. If that ever comes it is not likely to be in Mr. Bryan's day. Mr. Bryan may, however, be truthfully credited with a desire to assist in securing for the several States absolute and exclusive control over liquor traffic, including control over all shipments of liquor as soon as the liquor enters the State."
"It will be interesting to see how some Democratic editors will explain their opposition to the good old Democratic doctrine that the State ought to be allowed to attend to its own business."

Beebohm Tree is always interesting and entertaining, epigrammatic conversation and delightfully outspoken.
When Miss Constance Collier was playing Romans in "The Eternal City," Ed Cain was anxious to get a powerful effect in a certain scene she was taking with the late Robert Taylor, and the former was himself in a vein of reminiscence.
"I once saw," said Mr. Cain, "a very striking bit of business. The man picked up the woman and threw her over his shoulder."
Miss Collier looked at him in consternation, for she would be rather a heavy person to throw about. However, they did their best, but their futile efforts were interrupted by Mr. Tree.
"That reminds me," said the actor, "I saw a play in Italy once in which the hero caught hold of the heroine by the legs and banged her head on the floor."
"Splendid! A magnificent idea!" interrupted the enthusiastic author. "What was the play?"
"Funch and Judy," replied Mr. Tree.

DIDN'T MEAN TO BE UNKIND

Comment on Lecturer's Personal Appearance, However, Was Somewhat Humiliating.

Streckland, W. Gillian, lecturer, newspaper humorist and author of that famous section hand classic, "On Again, On Again, Gone Again, Final Gasp," is not quite the perfect type of masculine beauty, and he tells a story on himself that illustrates the esteem in which he is held by those who witness him for the first time. One saw him smiling as he came accustomed to his looks.
On one occasion in a rural town where he was billed to lecture, he might he was smiling about the main thoroughfare during the afternoon looking at groups and seeking local color. A group of natives stood on the corner, viewing him curiously as he passed. He knew they were talking about him and modestly wondered what their estimate of him was. When he was well by the crowd he was informed, although not intentionally for they were kindly Rubens.
"Bluh," exclaimed one in a critical tone, "I don't know what kind of a show he's got, but his street parade is rotten."

Types of Aeroplanes.

Each type of flyer at the great tournament at Rheims had a distinctive style of its own. With little practice one got to know each of them at a distance. One saw the great Antoinette engine poking its nose through the blue, and there was no mistaking the blue and red stripes of the machine. Nor could one err in picking the tripartite, tilting at a dizzy pace over the dips and hollows of the plain. When one saw a machine afar by the speed and the light springiness of its airplane, its head vees stretched out in advance, cutting the air like the fin of a whale, one found homing to its vicinity right. His was a sprightly engine of flight; it had an abrupt and startling quickness all its own, so that one never quite overcame the thrill of gasping when the intrepid driver corners at every point. And it, by chance, there were one of the big Aviatik biplanes touring on the line of view, the onlooker, at the contrast gave even a deeper gasp. For these French biplanes, like and unlike, would all others, went trundling by with the stability and power of a Dreadnought—Everybody's Magazine.

Cheer for Rich Children.

A London journalist has suggested that a creche should be established for the children of fashionable mothers. Women who must needs play bridge from two p. m. until two a. m. would feel happier, he thinks, if they knew their little people were being carefully tended in a well conducted creche, instead of being left alone in the upper regions while the nurse deposits herself in the servants' hall or goes out to an evening's entertainment. Amusement being the great aim of existence in these days, it is not to be supposed that nurses will be more devoted to the young of the man species than mothers. Hence the need of a creche for the children of the rich.

Women as Bankrupts.
According to the latest reports concerning bankruptcies, 444 women filed in business in the year 1921, as against 329 for the previous year. There also has been an increase in the number of married women bankrupts and a decrease in the widows and spinster bankrupts.

The trade in which the greatest number of women failed was dress making and millinery. Women grocers came next, while fancy goods and men's furnishing shops account for the third largest number of failures. The marked decrease in the magnitude of bankruptcies is due to speculative enterprise.—London Cable to the Washington Post.

Personal Reasons.
"I don't believe I shall run for office again," said the veteran politician.
"Why not?" asked the friend.
"My children are having too many schoolyard fights over the pictures and articles that get into print."

President Wants Separate Elections for the new States.

Representative Hamilton, of Michigan, Chairman of the House Committee on Territories, submitted to President Taft that a separate election should be held for the adoption of Constitutions at another time from that for the selection of State officers.

The President believes that by taking a separate vote on the Constitutions a much better instrument will be secured in each of the new States. The President approved Mr. Hamilton's bill and the latter hopes that statehood will be granted to the last two Territories in this session of Congress.

"Pistol-Toting" Bill.

Col. Jack Plinn, Representative in the Legislature from Mercer county, stated that he intended to introduce a bill which he believed would break up the "pistol-toting" in the State.

"I have observed that about seven out of ten men, after having killed another, offer as a defense the plea of insanity, emotional or otherwise, and the public usually says about the other three out of ten, 'Why, he must have been crazy.'"

"Now, I'm going to propose that it be the law that every man caught with a concealed weapon be presumed to be insane, that he be taken before the County Judge and sentenced to not less than ten days in one of the asylums and that he be so confined that he will be compelled to listen day and night to the ravings of the maddest of the mad. That will break them from carrying guns and knives—quicker than any other way I know of. Going to jail won't stop them; it's too easy."

These columns are open for the insane thus convicted.

Ice Gorge to be Dynamited by Government.

On Monday by rapid work of Congressman Shirley and others an appropriation of $5,000 was secured to defray expenses of dynamiting the ice gorge in the Ohio river, beginning from Wolfe Creek about 80 miles below Louisville. It extends for many miles up the river and at Louisville the river is backed up so that it is 20 feet higher than it would otherwise be. Millions of property is in danger in Kentucky and Indiana border. The ice is said to be packed to the bottom of the river and in places is piled 50 feet high. If a passage way for water is made without the sudden breaking of ice the property loss will not be so great.
